Student Attendance Policy

Greenfield Institute of Technology | Academic Year 2026–2027

1. Attendance Requirement

The minimum attendance requirement for undergraduate students is 75% in each registered course during a semester. Attendance is calculated separately for every course rather than as a single percentage for the entire semester.

2. How Attendance Is Calculated

Attendance percentage is calculated using the number of classes attended divided by the number of classes conducted for the course, multiplied by 100. Approved institutional activities may be treated according to the attendance rules applicable to that activity.

3. Attendance Monitoring

Faculty members update attendance through the Academic Information System. Students should review their attendance at least once every two weeks and report an apparent error to the course instructor within five working days of the attendance entry.

4. Attendance Shortage

Students whose attendance falls below 75% receive an automated shortage notification. The notification is intended to alert the student; it does not itself impose a disciplinary penalty.

5. Condonation

Attendance shortage may be considered for condonation only when the student meets the conditions specified by the Academic Council. The normal condonation window is from 65% to 74.99%. Requests below 65% are not ordinarily considered under the standard condonation process.

6. Application Procedure

A condonation request must be submitted through the Academic Information System within seven calendar days after the shortage notice. Supporting evidence must be attached when the request is based on medical or officially documented circumstances.

7. Medical Circumstances

Medical documents should cover the period for which the student was unable to attend classes. The Academic Council may request verification of documents. Submission of a medical certificate does not automatically raise the attendance percentage or guarantee approval.

8. Institutional Activities

Participation in officially authorized academic events, university competitions, or institutional duties may be considered under the attendance adjustment rules. Students should obtain written authorization before assuming that an activity will be counted.

9. Attendance and Examinations

Students must satisfy the applicable attendance requirement to become eligible for semester examinations. Examination eligibility is determined using official attendance records and the rules in force for the relevant academic term.

10. Attendance Disputes

If a student believes an attendance entry is incorrect, the first step is to contact the course instructor. If the issue remains unresolved, the student may submit a written request to the Department Attendance Coordinator with evidence such as the class record or authorized activity documentation.

11. Late Arrival

Individual faculty members may define a classroom late-arrival procedure, but late-arrival rules do not change the institutional minimum attendance requirement of 75%.

12. Responsibilities

Students are responsible for monitoring attendance, reporting errors promptly, submitting required documents, and understanding the attendance consequences of planned absences.

13. Examples

If 40 classes have been conducted and a student attended 32, the attendance percentage is 80%. If the student attended 29 classes, the percentage is 72.5%, which falls within the stated condonation window but does not itself mean that condonation will be approved.

14. Quick Reference

Rule	Value
Minimum attendance	75% per course
Standard condonation window	65%–74.99%
Standard application deadline	Within 7 calendar days after shortage notice
Attendance review frequency	Recommended at least once every 2 weeks

15. Scope Limitation

This policy does not define annual casual leave allowances, hostel visitor timings, examination re-test procedure, college bus charges, placement percentages, or cafeteria menus.
