Student Code of Conduct

Greenfield Institute of Technology | Academic Year 2026–2027

1. Purpose

The Student Code of Conduct establishes expectations for respectful, safe, and responsible behavior on campus, during institute events, and in institute-managed online spaces. The code applies to undergraduate and postgraduate students.

2. Respectful Conduct

Students are expected to communicate respectfully with peers, faculty, staff, visitors, and service personnel. Harassment, threats, intimidation, targeted abuse, and deliberate disruption of academic activities may be referred for disciplinary review.

3. Academic Responsibility

Students must submit their own academic work unless collaboration is explicitly permitted. Unauthorized copying, impersonation, fabrication of academic records, and deliberate submission of another person's work as one's own may constitute academic misconduct.

4. Campus Property

Students must use institute property responsibly. Deliberate damage to classrooms, laboratories, hostel facilities, library materials, network equipment, or other campus property may result in disciplinary action and recovery of documented repair costs.

5. Digital Conduct

Institute accounts and network resources should be used for legitimate academic and administrative purposes. Students must not attempt unauthorized access to another person's account, bypass security controls, distribute malicious software, or intentionally disrupt institutional systems.

6. Recording and Privacy

Recording classes, meetings, examinations, or private conversations without required permission may violate institutional rules or applicable privacy requirements. Students should obtain appropriate consent before publishing identifiable recordings of others.

7. Substance and Safety Rules

Students must comply with applicable campus safety rules concerning alcohol, tobacco, prohibited substances, fire safety, and hazardous materials. Possession or use of prohibited items on campus may be referred to the appropriate disciplinary authority.

8. Identification

Students should carry their institutional identity card when required for access to laboratories, examinations, libraries, residential facilities, or controlled events.

9. Reporting Concerns

Students may report safety concerns, harassment, academic misconduct, or property damage through the Student Support Office, designated complaint mechanism, or appropriate department authority. Reports should contain enough factual information for the institution to review the matter.

10. Disciplinary Review

Reported incidents may be reviewed by the appropriate committee. Depending on the nature of the matter, the process may include notice to the student, an opportunity to provide an explanation, review of available evidence, and a documented decision.

11. Possible Actions

Where a violation is established under the applicable procedure, possible institutional actions may include a warning, educational requirement, restriction from a facility or activity, recovery of documented costs, or other action authorized by the relevant regulations. The action depends on the circumstances and applicable rules.

12. Appeals

Students may use the appeal mechanism specified in the disciplinary notice or applicable regulations. Appeal deadlines and the responsible authority depend on the type of case.

13. Examples of Prohibited Conduct

Examples include deliberate damage to institute property, unauthorized access to accounts, examination impersonation, repeated targeted harassment, possession of prohibited hazardous items, and intentional disruption of essential campus services. The examples are illustrative and do not replace the full institutional regulations.
